A Seafood Hazard Analysis Critical Control Point (HACCP) Training Course, hosted by the Brown County Health Department with training provided by the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (WDATCP) in association with the North Central Association of Food and Drug Officials (NCAFD) will be held February 2-4, 2016 at the Neville Public Museum located at 210 Museum Pl, Green Bay, WI 54303 in rooms 122 and 123.

This course is for anyone who develops, modifies, or reviews Seafood HACCP Plans. The Code of Federal Regulations, 21 CFR Part 123, requires all establishments that process seafood to conduct a hazard analysis and if a hazard is identified, develop and follow a HACCP plan. Satisfactory completion of this course offering satisfies the training requirement indicated in 21 CFR 123.10.

Cost of this course is $100.00 per person which covers the cost of the manuals, certification and refreshments. Please print a completed registration form and include a check or money order made payable to WDATCP with the registration. Complete a separate registration form for each person attending; submitting a single check for all registrations from one facility is acceptable. When completing the form please provide your name as you would like it to appear on your training certificate and use the address where you would like your certificate mailed following the course.

Please return the completed registration form(s) along with payment, no later than January 25, 2016, to the address below. Please note that space is limited and participants will be accepted on a first come, first served basis. Confirmation of reserved seats at the course will be provided by phone or email.

AFDO Region information:

The geographic boundaries of NCAFD in the United States comprises Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, and Wisconsin. In Canada, NCAFD includes Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Membership, however, is not limited within these boundaries.

If you are located in another region, please determine your AFDO Region here:
